Trevor Warner Named Auction Manager at ADESA Colorado Springs

Carmel, IN—ADESA today announced Trevor Warner has been promoted to auction manager of ADESA Colorado Springs, effective immediately. The previous general manager, Gary Gilley, recently announced his retirement.

Warner has served in various roles during his time at ADESA Colorado Springs, including body shop supervisor, factory manager and, most recently, as the auction's operations manager.

"Trevor has proven himself to be a strong leader during his time with ADESA," said Tom Caruso, ADESA chief operating officer. "This combination of leadership, passion for customer service and knowledge of this industry make him a perfect fit for this role."

Prior to joining ADESA, Warner served in management roles at Manheim's Newburgh Auto Auction in Newburgh, N.Y., and Manheim's Baltimore-Washington Auto Exchange. He also spent several years with Remarketing Services of America in Buffalo, N.Y.

"We have a great team here at ADESA Colorado Springs," said Warner, "and I'm excited by the opportunity to lead and grow this auction in my new role."

Warner majored in business management at Canisius College in Buffalo, N.Y.
